This Fire and Rescue Manual is the first manual within the Fire Service Operations series dedicated to the protection of the environment. This publication provides information and guidance designed to support firefighters, Fire Brigade Service managers and trainers in their work at operational incidents, training events and during day-to-day activities. This manual contains guidance for Fire and Rescue Services (FRSs) on preventing and if necessary, dealing with incidents with the potential to pollute. Through its guidance this manual also ensures FRSs can help minimise their own impact on the environment by providing advice on how to prevent pollution from their own premises. This new Fire and Rescue Service manual is essential reading for Fire and Rescue Service managers and those involved in incident response across all of the emergency services.

This book serves as a reference for engineers, scientists, and students concerned with the use of materials in applications where reliability and resistance to corrosion are important. It updates the coverage of its predecessor, including coverage of: corrosion rates of steel in major river systems and atmospheric corrosion rates, the corrosion behavior of materials such as weathering steels and newer stainless alloys, and the corrosion behavior and engineering approaches to corrosion control for nonmetallic materials. New chapters include: high-temperature oxidation of metals and alloys, nanomaterials, and dental materials, anodic protection. Also featured are chapters dealing with standards for corrosion testing, microbiological corrosion, and electrochemical noise.
